Home learning

Maths home learning:

Next week, we will start to learn our x3 table facts e.g: $1 \times 3 = 3$, $2 \times 3 = 6$, $3 \times 3 = 9$.

We will learn these up to $12 \times 3 = 36$ Practise learning your x3 facts by heart.

Go to <https://www.topmarks.co.uk/maths-games/hit-the-button> and choose, time tables, then x3.

Practise your x3 facts as much as you can for next week! 😊

Next week's learning...

In English, we will start a new focus on poetry.

In maths, we will revisit addition and begin learning our x3 facts.

In history, we will continue our topic on Lathom House.

In science, we will be sketching a range of parts and learning their names.

In computing, we will be looking for different computer parts around school.
